V-DAY PYLON Push Efforts In Move To Avert Maritime Strike

Government Conciliators
Seek To Reach Basis Of Settlement Of Dispute

NAVY CONTINUES OPERATIONS PLAN

WASHINGTON, June 5.—(INS)—The government matched its efforts to conciliate the maritime dispute today with continuing preparations to take over and operate the nation's merchant fleet if the negotiations end in a strike.

The coast guard cancelled all discharges among its 24,000 officers and men as part of the federal campaign to mobilize manpower to run the ships in event CIO unions carry out their scheduled June 15 strike threat.

Concentrate Efforts
Government conciliators concentrated their efforts on solving the dispute between the unions and the ship owners over a shorter work week, feeling that other demands can be easily ironed out if this major question is settled.

Edgar L. Warren, chief of the U. S. Conciliation Service, said that the seven unions—six CIO and one independent—have receded from their basic position regarding the 40-hour work week.

Although the unions originally demanded a 40-hour week both ashore and at sea, Warren indicated that they are now willing to work more than 40 hours at basic rates of pay. However, the maritime workers still were sticking firmly to their demand that the present work week of 56 hours be reduced.

Warren said that the discussion over a reduction in the maritime work week involves two major points: (1) The total number of hours to be worked, and (2) the number of hours that are to be straight time hours before overtime pay begins.

The conciliation director said that a great part of the discussion between the parties has centered upon the question of the increased number of workers necessary to effect a shorter work week.

PA NEWC OBSERVES Seek First Hand Report Of German Food Situation

Senate Committee Wants First Hand Report Of Actual Conditions In Germany

WASHINGTON, June 5.—(INS)—The senate small business committee called Surgeon General Norman T. Kirk today for a first hand report on the nutritional status of the German people.

An influential Republican member of the committee hinted, meanwhile, that a "deal" might be made under which GOP members would reverse their stand on meat controls in return for certain as yet unspecified concessions by the administration.

The administration pressed hard for a reversal.

Several committee members said privately that unless the group reversed itself a "flood" of similar de-control amendments might be offered from the floor when the OPA bill reaches the senate.

Concede Election Result In Italy Ousts Monarchy

BULLETIN

ROME, June 5.—(INS)—The thousand-year-old House of Savoy went out of existence as the sovereign power in Italy today and a fledgling republic was established by vote of the people.

Semi-official returns from the first free election held in 25 years show King Humbert II from his briefly-held throne and the son of former King Victor Emmanuel made immediate preparations to leave for exile in Portugal.

A total of 12 million, 160,155

Italians voted for establishment of the republic while 10 million, 300,614 marked their ballots for retention of the monarchy.

ROMA, June 5.—(INS)—The Italian cabinet conceded today that Republican efforts to depose King Humbert II and the Royal House of Savoy have been successful.

Manlio Brosio, minister of war, said returns from all but 1,000 electoral precincts showed 12 million votes for a republic, and ten million for the monarchy. He added:

"Nearly four hundred of the remaining precincts are from Lombardy—which is Republican territory. The monarchy cannot recoup the Republican lead."

"Italy has its republic and from now on Italians will have to be on

Nearing Decision On Meat Control Ending On June 30

WASHINGTON, June 5.—(INS)—The senate banking and currency committee neared a crucial decision today on the ending of meat controls June 30.

The administration pressed hard for a reversal.

Several committee members said privately that unless the group reversed itself a "flood" of similar de-control amendments might be offered from the floor when the OPA bill reaches the senate.

Sen. Tobey (R) N. H., ranking minority committee member, said a formal attempt would be made at today's closed meeting to reverse the committee's 10-8 decision to end price controls on meat. Tobey denied, however, that he would offer the motion. A close vote was anticipated.

An influential Republican member of the committee hinted, meanwhile, that a "deal" might be made under which GOP members would reverse their stand on meat controls in return for certain as yet unspecified concessions by the administration.

Coal Production Is Near Normal

Inoperative Is Report On Situation Today

PITTSBURGH, June 5.—(INS)—The Solid Fuels Administration today reported that western Pennsylvania's bituminous coal production was near normal and only a few of the district's mines were inoperative.

A heavy flow of coal from "captive mines" resulted in the Carnegie-Illinois Steel corporation stepping up its production at the Clairton coke plant to 85 per cent of capacity.

Naval authorities in charge of the coal mine administration said that bituminous mining was near normal throughout the nation. Illinois' output was about 90 per cent, while West Virginia, Kentucky, Tennessee and Indiana were producing better than average.

Teen-Age Draft Is Restored By Senate Action

Administration Leaders Believe Senate Vote Assures
Victory On Issue

WASHINGTON, June 5.—(INS)—Administration leaders were confident today that the two-to-one majority by which the Senate voted to resume drafting teen-age youths would hold against a last-ditch move to halt all inductions until Congress gives the word.

The Senate scheduled an early session after another night meeting in which it approved a pay boost for enlisted men and non-coms, put 18 and 19-year-olds back in position for induction, and authorized exemption of scientific students and most honorably discharged veterans.

One Major Hurdle

Still pending before the draft extension bill goes to a House-Senate conference committee was one major hurdle—an amendment by Sen. Revercomb (R) W. Va., suspending induction until Congress by law declares them necessary.

But administration lieutenants felt sure that the 33 to 26 vote restoring the teen-age draft marked their battle won.

Adoption of this proviso making all men from 18 to 45 liable for service in the armed forces counter House action exempting teen-agers from the draft.

Both houses, however, have voted to ban induction of fathers. The Senate version, approved in last

D-Day Landing Beach May Be Held By Allies

PARIS, June 5.—(INS)—The United States and Great Britain may hold forever the Normandy beachhead where the first D-day landing took place as a symbol of their liberating role.

The French War Veterans Association "Freres d'Armes" revealed today the completion of plans for segregating the 600-yard strip of beach near Arromanches. The association said it will ask the French government to cede it officially to its Anglo-American allies.

The veterans group plans also the construction of a lighthouse in the area flashing the "V" sign and to mark off the beachhead with commemorative monuments.

The disease struck passengers and crewmen aboard the battleship enroute from Honolulu to Kwajalein and at one time more than 18 per cent of the persons aboard were under medical treatment.

The navy dispatched from Pearl Harbor a plane which brought a special medical team to Kwajalein to care for nearly 100 patients.

This was announced today by Edward J. Sinder, manager of the New Castle office of the Social Security board.

Any wage earner who has worked steadily in covered employment will attain his 40th quarter of coverage when he has been paid at least $50 in the calendar quarter beginning October 1, 1946. Mr. Sinder said.

The Wastage Of War

The present congressional and public criticism of the surplus war property disposal program is reminiscent of the situation which prevailed after World War I. The unexpected armistice in 1918 caught the country in the height of a war procurement program and with no organization set up to handle surplus goods valued at seven billion dollars.

Large quantities were allowed to deteriorate, there were scandals in the sales and the outcry heard then probably would have drowned out the protests that are being voiced now.

Surpluses from World War II are now estimated at upward of $5 billion dollars. They are scattered from Latin America to the India-Burma theater. Many, perhaps as much as a third, are nonusable in civilian markets. The cost of transportation and salvage makes the recovery of huge stocks of them economically impracticable. But a serious effort is being made to profit from the mistakes of the previous war.

Pressure on owning agencies, chiefly the Army and Navy, by War Assets Administrator Lt. Gen. E. B. Gregory, has recently speeded up transfer of goods to disposal agencies. Actual disposals still are slow, but they are rising sharply month by month.

Much of the criticism about the halting manner of the government in placing usable goods in the hands of veterans and other civilians who need them has been justified, but efforts have been made to remedy the situation. It is a huge task. The government will recover in money only a small fraction of the original costs of these materials. The loss must be charged to the terrible wastage of war.

U. S. Of Europe Proposal

Newspapers have widely commented on the statement made by Winston Churchill in a speech in Holland some time ago, recommending a United States of Europe as the only instrument which can save the unfortunate continent from ultimate extinction. The proposal for such a federation has been greeted with widespread approval.

The suggestion for a United States of Europe is not new. A proposal was made for such a federation following the First World War. Unfortunately, the peace-makers chose the path of revenge and power politics. Their efforts led directly to another world struggle in spite of the League of Nations.

Conditions in Europe, for the creation of such a federation are, of course, widely different than they were in America when the United States was formed. In our own country the small population spoke one tongue and the people were, in the main, homogenous. They did not have ten or fifteen centuries of war, fear, hatred and conflicting traditions behind them as is the case across the Atlantic. All were bent on making a new and workable government in which individual freedom was the keystone. Even then it wasn't easy.

In Europe it has always been the national fear, hatred and the conflicting traditions which have made a federated state impossible. But now, of course, conditions are different over there, although fear and hatred are still rampant. It is said on good authority that famine and suffering are more widespread in Europe than they have been since the days of Genghis Khan. It could be that common misery and desire for survival would do what has failed of accomplishment in the past, but certainly the developments during the past year have pointed in the opposite direction. If the suffering states of Europe are to be federated, the drift toward power politics will have to be stopped quickly.

The difference in ideals between Russia and Western Europe is such as to make a complete federation impossible, even if the western European nations could be federated. But if conditions go as they are today it is possible that the western democracies may get a kind of United States they are not looking for—Soviet federation, with Moscow as the capital, with freedom of enterprise, of thought and of speech, thrown into the discard. Here is a possibility not to be lost sight of.

Election Gives France New Hope

Communists appear to have lost only a few seats in Sunday's election in France. The Socialist party got a worse beating as French voters made the middle-of-the-road Popular Republican Movement of Georges Bidault the leading party, with a plurality in the National Assembly.

But in reality Red Communism in France, Moscow-tainted and Moscow-directed, got a very severe setback at the hands of the French people. It was a fitting sequel to the rejection early in May of the proposed French constitution which was so obviously designed to put the Communists in power and keep them there.

That barefaced attempt of a minority to grab control through creation of a single chambered body in which legislative, executive and judicial power would be concentrated, provided the people of France with a clear-cut issue in Sunday's election.

It cannot be said that they turned plainly toward the Right—a fact which extreme Rightist elements would do well to note. But they did turn definitely away from the Communist manipulators and the ideology they represent.

Neither in France nor abroad should too much weight be given to the outcome. The new National Assembly will draft another constitution. This time, it is to be hoped, it will include those checks and balances characteristic of western types of democracy, which the Reds have tried to eliminate.

But French prospects of establishing a satisfactory permanent postwar system of government are clouded by the multiplicity of parties, though a fair majority are Rightist or anti-Red.

That makes the Socialists, formerly teamed with the Communists but bitterly antagonistic to them during the campaign, the big question mark today.

A new constitution may be written without the Socialists. But if they turn in with other Frenchmen, the cause of genuine liberalism will take a long leap ahead and pro-Soviet Communism will have received a jolt which may profoundly affect the welfare and history of Europe for years to come.

Now's the time to express hope that warmer days are coming before fall weather sets in on schedule.

Stalin is sorry Russia will be unable to send food to hungry Europeans, but says nothing of a shortage of communist propaganda.

Some generous soul suggests that we give the country back to the Indians. But that isn't as generous as it sounds. With a debt of 275 billions, how much equity have we got in it, anyway?

WASHINGTON CALLING

by MARQUIS CHILDS

Russia's Charges

Of U. S. Imperialism

WASHINGTON, June 5.—In the latest blast from Moscow, American imperialism is the charge hurled by Russia in connection with the American interest in bases. This charge echoed loudly over the proposal to keep a U. S. base in Iceland. It was picked up in this country by champions of Russia.

Here is an important fact which certainly modifies that charge. It is a fact which was concealed by wartime secrecy.

At only one point are the borders of the Soviet Union and the United States in close proximity. Across the Bering Strait, the western tip of Alaska is separated from the eastern tip of Siberia by only 54 miles. In western Alaska, there are not only no bases but no defenses of any consequence.

Defense In Alaska

The story of our defense system in Alaska, our farthest frontier, is a curious one. The army and navy together have poured more than a billion dollars into Alaska. A great chain of bases has been built in southern Alaska and the Aleutians. With one or two minor exceptions, these bases are hundreds of miles in the worst flying weather in the world—from the nearest border of our wartime ally, Russia.

One of the minor exceptions is Kuskokwim, a base built at the head of Kuskokwim Bay which is about 300 air miles north of the Aleutians. Kuskokwim is now being decommissioned, as is another base on the west coast, Naknek.

Major Bases Aimed At Japan

The major bases were all aimed at Japan. They are far out in the Aleutian chain. Perhaps the largest is at Adak. One almost entirely unknown to the public is on the tiny island of Shemya. It was selected because it is almost the only island in the chain with sufficient flat surface to provide a landing field for heavy bombers.

Although it was hidden by top-secret restrictions, a start was made on a base on the Seward Peninsula, which is nearest the great Asiatic land mass. At great cost materials were hauled to Port Clarence, north of Nome. They were to go into a base back of Port Clarence at Point Spencer.

These materials have now been declared surplus. The plans for the base have been abandoned. Some of our Alaskan defense advisers believe this is a mistake. They argue that, with billions still being spent on defense bases in the South Pacific, a little could be spared for a major defensive base on the westernmost tip of Alaska.

Without Defense System

The whole of northwest Alaska is without any real defense system. One may ask what it matters—just a lot of frozen, empty country? One answer is that the navy is preparing to develop what appear to be extensive oil deposits in northern Alaska. Another and far more important answer is that Alaska would give an enemy easy bombing range of U. S. industrial centers.

All through the war, Alaska was a major ferry point for lend-lease planes going to Russia. American pilots were not allowed to deliver those planes on Russian soil. Instead, Russian pilots were flown to Fairbanks, 500 miles in the interior. Wartime Fairbanks was an extraordinary spectacle, with Russians constantly going and coming. Yet in two or three instances when top-flight Americans wanted to fly into Russia by the back door, it took all of them to get through.

The tests will prove that if any enemy is stupid enough to concentrate one hundred ships in a small area, paint them in colors with the highest visibility and give them no protection they can be atom bombed.

At Pearl Harbor we concentrated the ships but neglected to paint them in bright colors. Tojo will never forgive us for that.

Science marches on.

Smugglers have been caught toting sugar into the United States and there is also an unconfirmed rumor that a hot loaf of bread goes into the country last week.

There were some prophets of gloom who said we'd have bread lines in this country within a year after the end of the war and for once they were right.

The classified ads now read "Gentleman with small bag of flour offers honorable career to lady with bread pants".

Anyhow we are about ready for the atom bomb tests . . . The battleship Nevada has been painted bright red and orange so she will make a perfect target. Potential enemies are asked to study the color scheme and co-operate.

LOOKING AT LIFE

BY ERICH BRANDEIS

"The only thing we have to fear is fear itself."

It was the late Franklin D. Roosevelt who said that, and I wonder what he would say if he were alive today and looked around him at a country steeped in fear.

Yes, ladies and gentlemen, that is the trouble with us today—FEAR.

It isn't Russia. It isn't John L. Lewis. It isn't the aftermath of the war.

The government fears to act. The people are afraid to assert themselves and their rights.

Congress fears to pass laws that may help the country but alienate votes.

Yet we have nothing to be afraid of.

If we had the courage we'd tell Russia where to get off—and she would get off that high horse, of hers in no time.

I for one think that Russia is scared to death of war with us—but she is a much better poker player than we are.

John L. Lewis could be shorn of his arrogance in twenty-four hours if there were not so much pusy-footing.

(Read what Delilah did to Samson—Lewis needs a haircut, too.)

One of the most shameful chapters in world history was the subject surrender at Munich.

And one of the most shameful chapters in American history is the abject surrender of Washington, and the abject surrender of our rights by all of us to cheap tyrants, loud-mouthed agitators and brazen foot-draggers.

(Read what Delilah did to Samson—Lewis needs a haircut, too.)

The United States had imperialistic aims that, in any way involved Soviet Russia, then the first place to establish bases would be where the two borders are only 54 miles apart. This country has shown no intention of fortifying our side of that border. What Russia is doing on the other side is the unknown.

TATTLE-TALE

Just Folks

BY EDGAR A. GUEST

Read an article yesterday in the paper where some chap reported that cigarettes are now worth fifteen dollars per carton if you are in Germany. The Black Market business this article claimed made the price so very high.

A few months ago while in Germany the price of cigarettes frequently went up to the fifty dollars per carton mark. At that time a cigarette would buy just anything . . . and it did. It's true that the higher price was more often obtained from the Russian soldiers that were stationed along the U. S. Zone boundary.

Soon after V-E Day the best government in the world (U. S.) made a law that only a small amount of monies could be sent back to the states by the occupation forces . . . this tended to lower prices to some extent . . . But instead of accomplishing the job it was intended to make the men spend the money over there.

And in addition to selling cigarettes that cost five cents per pack . . . some of the lads went so far as to sell clothing. Some time GI blankets could be found and these would sell at forty dollars each. Shoes and trousers of course were the main items. Some others even sold items that were sent in gift boxes from the states. Chewing gum, soap, toothbrushes and the like.

If this all didn't open the eyes of the "doubts" then you could go a step further and sell a watch. We have seen Micky Mouse watches sell for eighty dollars. Watches that were jeweled had almost an unlimited ceiling. Watches that would sell for twenty-five dollars in the states would bring three or four hundred dollars from the Russians.

We have read lately where this practice is slowing down and the black market trade is not as flourishing. Well, that's difficult to believe but if army spokesmen say it is . . . well, then it is.

Regardless . . . that we were the victors, some day we are going to pay and right through the nose for our foolish black market practices.

Melting Pot Of U. S.

In Contention Made

SANTA FE, N. M.—(INS)—When people speak of America as the world's greatest melting-pot today, they usually cite as example some major eastern metropolis where the past century's immigration has mixed the tongues and traditions of countless foreign countries.

And, as they speak, Santa Fe—oldest capital city in the land and one that has flown the flags of four nations—smiles drowsily in its midday siesta and dreams of the four centuries during which it has been busily blending the full rice cultures of half a dozen distinct

original Melting Pot

For Santa Fe is perhaps the nation's original melting-pot, and when it awakes and its sun-baked plaza begins to hum again with conversation, you realize just how much the old royal city and all of New Mexico has contributed to the American language.

You hear words that long since have been a part of America's idiomatic vernacular spoken often in their native language. Just as often, when you hear a combination of two or three tongues—and once again, the colorful words and phrases which have enriched American speech leap out at you from an unfamiliar babble.

There are three sets of double locks in the waterway at Gatun, where three double locks raise Pacific bound ships 85 feet above sea level to Gatun lake. Some came with the Spanish conquistadores 400 years ago, keeping almost perfect Castilian pronunciation as they were adopted into the new world's family language.

Such words as canyon, larva, stampede, barbecue and arena have roots reaching directly to old Spain. Still others are anglicized versions of the Spanish, such as bronco and rodeo.

Innumerable words and phrases came from the southwestern Indian tribes who made their home here not to mention those terms carried up with the conquistadores as a form of Mexican-Spanish but which really had a pure derivation from the original Aztec or Nahua tribes to the south. ### Lions Club Hears Nick Casillo Speak About Conservation

Tells Of Need For Conservation In Many Phases Which Affect
Our Lives

Nicholas R. Casillo, member of the Senior high school faculty, and an ardent sportsman gave an interesting talk before the New Castle Lions club, at their noon luncheon meeting in The Castleton, Tuesday noon, when he discussed the subject of conservation from various angles.

He cited the need for conservation which has prompted our state game commissions to take action to preserve wildlife, and of how many kinds of wildlife, once plentiful in this country have either disappeared, or been reduced to small numbers.

During his talk, he emphasized the fact that we are entirely dependent for our food supply on the green plants, which supply nourishment both to man and beast. This is due to the fact that a substance, known as chlorophyl, found in plants, extracts carbon, hydrogen, and oxygen from the air, turning it into carbo-hydrates and proteins. In addition, they extract minerals from the soil, all of which is stored up in the plant.

Mr. Casillo stated that the subject has become so important that many states are starting to teach conservation in the schools, so that the idea will be ingrained in them for life.

Delegates were elected to the state convention at Pittsburgh, Monday and Tuesday of next week. They are: Sam Rashid, Charles Pyle, Earl T. Ramsey, King Lion Harvey B. Bush, Corbis A. Walker, Willard G. Belknap, Richard Davis, John Loudon, and William W. McCombs. Alternates are: Earl Wimer, Joseph Leyde, and William Donkin.

Corbis A. Walker and Charles L. Goodman were admitted as new members, and Don M. Latta, of Lakewood, O., was a guest of the club.

RHUBARB NOT LIMITED IN WAYS TO PLEASE

Rhubarb always has a refreshing tangy taste but as one of the first spring fruits it tastes doubly good. Besides tasting good, rhubarb contains some of the much needed Vitamins A and C, some iron, and some protein, reminds Miss McClain.

Stewed rhubarb is a favorite way of serving this luscious fruit. Pick the rhubarb, cut off the base of the stalk and discard the leaves. Never cook the leaves because they contain oxalic acid which is poisonous. Wash the stalks, then cut into inch-long pieces. Put the cut rhubarb in a saucepan, add a small amount of water—enough to make a quarter-inch in bottom of pan, add a little sugar or syrup. Cover, bring to a boil, remove from fire, and cool.

Any time the oven is being used and there is room, put rhubarb in a baking dish, add water and sugar as for stewed fruit, and bake. It will take 30 to 40 minutes for rhubarb to bake in a moderate oven.

Rhubarb betty is a tasty dessert and an easy way to use those few slices of bread that are too stale for table use but cannot be thrown out.

Use a recipe for apple betty, substituting rhubarb for apples. Rhubarb pie is a favorite among pie-eaters, either the plain or custard type. However, it is better to serve rhubarb in ways that require little flour or fat.

A few jars of canned rhubarb won't be amiss, for it will taste mighty good next winter. It mixes well with strawberries for jam, and rhubarb is delicious when frozen.

Sees Again After Seventeen Years Of Total Blindness

Philadelphia Woman Gets New Meaning From Thrill Of A Lifetime'

PHILADELPHIA, June 5.—(INS)—The words "thrill of a lifetime" today took on new meaning for Mrs. Helena Davis, of 1732 N. Stillman St., Philadelphia, who recently emerged into a world of wonder after 17 years of blindness.

First on the list of Mrs. Davis' one-in-a-million experience—aside from her recovery from an affliction she believed she could never shed—was her first glimpse of her husband, to whom she has been married nearly twelve years.

And high on her list of future thrills is a shopping trip, during which she'll personally select a new dress for the first time in 17 years.

When Mrs. Davis was 18, she awakened one morning to find her room smoky and hazy. She believed the house was afire until she noticed the haze was outside, too.

Eye Infection

The "haze" was the outbreak of an eye infection she had apparently unknowingly had since childhood. Within a short time her sight was reduced to the bare ability to distinguish light.

About five years later, she married Walter Davis, who devoted all his spare time away from his work at a shipyard to being her "eyes." He helped her with the shopping and the housework, and took her to "hear" the movies, explaining them to her later at home.

Early this year, the couple heard a radio program dealing with the restoration of sight by surgery. For years Mrs. Davis had resigned herself to being "incurable." Her husband, eager to have her share his world of sight, wrote to the radio station in the hopes that there might be one more "possibility."

She was placed under the care of Dr. Louis Lehrfeld, a staff member of the Wills Eye Hospital. After one operation, she could see forms. The second—on her left eye—in which new pupils were placed in her eyes—did the trick.

Her sight is only ten per cent of normal—but she can read all the numbers on an eye chart if she stands directly before it—and she can read the face of a clock or the date on a calendar.

She's even "seen" a movie, and while she doesn't believe she'll ever actually read again, she doesn't mind. She's too busy right now thinking about that new dress.

She wants to get it before June 16th. That's the day she'll be married 12 years—and the first wedding anniversary that she'll be able to "see" her husband.

Union Head Expects Merger Of Largest Rail Brotherhoods

Locomotive Firemen, Engineers May Merge In 1947, Says Firemen's President

PITTSBURGH, June 5.—(INS)—President D. B. Robertson of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engineers today maintained that a merger of two large unions involved in the recent railroad strike loomed as a possibility in 1947.

Robertson, a guest at a dinner in Pittsburgh, said that his union, active since 1873, now has a membership of 120,000 and the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers has 80,000. He said his own union is in favor of consolidation and added that sentiments of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers seem favorable.

John McBride, vice president of the Brotherhood of Firemen and Engineers, blamed much of labor's present trouble on "the foolish action of the two brotherhoods in striking against the government."

Wide Open Gambling, Drinking Involves Junior High School Students

PITTSBURGH, July 5.—(INS)—Police Superintendent Harvey Scott today was under orders from Mayor David L. Lawrence to clean up Pittsburgh's Hill district as a result of complaints of wide open gambling and drinking.

The action came when a group of persons representing parent-teacher associations, churches and individuals, cited conditions that ranged from pregnancies among junior high school girls to wide open gambling "in which nearly every elementary school student participates."

The group also said that liquor is sold to the juveniles.

COMMUNIST PAPERS ATTACK

CARACAS, June 5.—(INS)—President Truman, Herbert Hoover, Secretary of State Byrnes and other U.S. leaders were attacked by Venezuelan communist newspapers today as "wishing to dominate the world."

Shower Marriage Proposals Upon Two Stowaways

Many Gallant Men Offer Two English Girls Marriage, Home, And Jobs

PHILADELPHIA, June 5.—(INS)—The age of chivalry is not dead, girls, and you don't have to go to be knighted England to prove it.

In fact, there'll be a dozen gallant American men who are pretty much put-out if two lovely young things leave these fair shores for the British Isles.

The R.A.F.'s recently entered America by stowing away on a Merchant ship. They were tracked down when a sailor noticed a whiff of perfume emanating from a supposedly unoccupied cabin.

When immigration authorities took the girls in tow they identified themselves as Mares' Fornances, an 18-year-old waitress, and Doris Smith, a 22-year-old dancer. According to U.S. Commissioner Norman J. Griffin and immigration authorities, there's only one way out for the girls—and that's to go back to England "and try to figure out a way of coming back legally."

Write Pleading Letters

But that hasn't stopped a dozen American gallants from writing pleading letters to authorities—some proposing marriage and some offering to serve as guardians.

Said one:

"This is a rank outrage, when there are men like me trying every way they can think of to find a good wife."

And then he added magnanimously:

"I will take the young one."

Another chivalrous citizen, who apparently had an eye to business, also was desirous of the young one, who is the waitress.

"Please answer soon," he said in part, "as I own a small restaurant and have enough money to be married."

Doris also had her champions. A man from Nebraska, who "needs a wife to keep house," wrote:

"She can stay at my mother's house until all arrangements are made, as my mother is alone anyway."

Virginian Wants Both

But apparently the men from the deep south are the most chivalrous of all for a man in Virginia wants both of them.

Quoth he:

"Such a sad ending for two lovely young women who we men need so much in our every day life. Do you think, my dear sir, you could send them to me?"

"I have an eight-room apartment and I really need a cook and housekeeper—if they don't want to cook or housekeep, I can offer them a home anyway."

Commissioner Griffin just shakes his head and doesn't even let the girls read their fan mail.

But for the sake of the American girls who are probably gnashing their teeth and muttering about charity beginning at home, let it be said that two officers aboard the stowaway ship fared not so well for their chivalry. Accused of helping the girls out aboard ship, they are now each under $1000 bond each to keep the peace for a year.

Democratic Nominee For Governor Meets With County Chairman And Others

Col. John S. Rice, a state senator from the Franklin-Adams county district and the Democratic candidate for the governorship of Pennsylvania met with Democratic leaders of Lawrence county Tuesday afternoon in The Castleton. Headed by County Chairman John B. Shaw, a group of Democrats had lunch with Col. Rice and in the early afternoon he met voters in the hotel.

Later in the summer a rally will be held in New Castle at which time the balance of the ticket will be present and the issues of the campaign presented.

"Just now I am urging every man and woman who is eligible to vote to register," said Col. Rice. "In every county there are many not registered in some cases the total rising to a third of the population.

"I also intend to deal with the condition of our mental hospitals and the need for more facilities" said he. "The argument that the war interfered with construction of mental hospitals seemed to have no such effect in Ohio. All our mental institutions are crowded and there are cases in every county that should be in a state institution."

President Signs School Lunch Act

WASHINGTON, June 5.—(INS)—President Truman on Tuesday signed the administration-sponsored school lunch act, providing federal aid to states in furnishing lunches for school children.

The president, in signing the bill, said he felt that "the congress has acted with great wisdom in providing the basis for strengthening the nation through better nutrition for our school children."

Mr. Truman said that he had pointed out in his state of the union message to congress that the nation has technical knowledge to provide plenty of good food for everyone but that despite the capacity to produce food the country has sometimes failed to distribute it properly.

USE ROTENONE DUST FOR BEAN BEETLES

Rotenone dust applied especially to the under side of the leaves and repeated at 10-day intervals as long as necessary will give control of Mexican bean beetles, a familiar pest in most gardens where it forages on all kinds of beans if left unmolested.

Dull yellow to copper-colored, and with 16 black spots on the wing covers, the beetles are easily identified. The female lays eggs on the under sides of the leaves where the young hatch and start their voracious attacks on the plants. The beetles usually make their appearance about this time and unless controlled continue their attacks throughout most of the summer.

Byrnes Going Back To Paris

Plans To Reach Paris By June 15 To Resume Peace Treaties Conference

WASHINGTON, June 5.—(INS)—Secretary of State Byrnes said that he plans to reach Paris by June 15 to resume the "Big Four" foreign ministers conference charged with drafting peace treaties for Italy and the Balkan states.

Byrnes told a news conference he could see no reason why the meeting should be postponed and asserted that he planned to leave Washington on June 13.

He will be accompanied by the staff which served with him at the earlier meeting including his congressional advisers, Senators Tom Connally (D-Tex.) and Arthur H. Vandenberg (R-Mich.).

Byrnes sharply turned away questions aimed at determining what progress has been made toward achieving treaty drafts, either by diplomatic correspondence with British Foreign Minister Bevin, Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov and Foreign Minister Bidault of France.

Treaty Draft Submitted

Byrnes said that a treaty draft for Austria has been submitted to the Big Four in the hope that it can be taken up in the next meeting. Molotov rebuffed attempts at discussion of the Austrian treaty at the earlier conference.

At the same time, Byrnes indicated that the United States is still pressing for a thorough inspection of the extent of demilitarization of all four zones of Germany.

Byrnes said he still hopes that the investigation will be held as originally proposed but added that the matter will have to be taken up again at the next meeting of the Allied Control Council in Berlin.

The United States had urged the inspection over the extent of the demilitarization of war plants in all Germany. Russia has demurred at this saying it should be confined to the extent of the disarmament of the German troops.

Return Air Base

At his news conference, Byrnes also disclosed:

An agreement has been reached with Portugal whereby the ten million dollar war-built air base at Santa Maria, Azores, has been returned to Portugal but that the United States will continue to have transit use for 18 months to maintain a line of communication with occupation forces in Germany and the Far East.

No negotiations are going on with Portugal for defense bases there, either for the United States or for the United Nations. On the United Nations matter, he said any such negotiations would be conducted by the UN itself.

California Gives Landslide Vote To Gov. Earl Warren

Governor Wins Republican Nomination; May Also Win Vote Of Democrats

SAN FRANCISCO, June 5.—(INS)—A landslide vote gave Governor Earl Warren the Republican nomination for re-election today and incomplete returns indicated he may win the Democratic nomination as well.

His Democratic opponent, Attorney General Robert W. Kenny, was engaged in a neck-and-neck race for the Democratic nomination with Warren.

With Warren making California political history, the governor stood a good chance of becoming the first governor to be re-elected in the Golden State since the late Hiram Johnson was returned governor in 1914.

Warren's powerful vote-getting in the California primary projected him more than ever into national GOP limelight.

Maritime Strikers May Picket Navy's Philadelphia Base

PHILADELPHIA, June 5.—(INS)—The possibility arose today that the Philadelphia naval base may be picketed if the nationwide maritime strike actually gets underway.

Eugene Williams, representing the National Maritime Union, said the union is depending heavily on union sentiment among the rank and file of navy men.

Williams said all preparations have been completed in Philadelphia for the strike which is scheduled to begin on June 15. The strike will affect approximately ten thousand workers in this area, according to the union.

Meanwhile, the fourth naval district is conducting a survey to determine how many reserve officers and enlisted men will be available for emergency duty if the strike comes off.

Hard Coal Pact Expected Soon

Negotiators Report 'Progress' At Monday Session; Withhold All Details

NEW YORK, June 5.—(INS)—An early end of the six-day-old hard coal strike was looked for today as representatives of the miners and operators prepared to discuss details of proposed wage scales.

Both sides remained silent, regarding all preparations having been completed in Philadelphia for the strike which is scheduled to begin on June 15. The strike will affect approximately ten thousand workers in this area, according to the union.

Chief hurdles were believed to be the miners' demand for a return to the pre-war five day week at a six-day pay scale and the proposed welfare fund.

Dupont Withdraws From Atomic Bomb Research Activity

Company Transfers Responsibility To General Electric For Future Work

WILMINGTON, Del., June 5.—(INS)—President Walter S. Carpenter today disclosed that the Dupont company was withdrawing from all activities in connection with the atomic research and development program of the war department.

The Wilmington company has transferred to General Electric company its responsibility for operation of the $347 million government-owned plant at Hanford, Wash.

"As Dupont retires from this project, I wish to express the appreciation of the company to General Groves and the war department for the splendid cooperation which has marked this difficult project from the beginning and to wish to General Electric the greatest of success in expanding the undertaking to new fields."

The transfer is to become effective September 1, the war department said. When the Dupont company undertook the project during the war period, it was understood the firm would withdraw "as soon after the end of hostilities as was consistent with the government's plans," an army spokesman explained.

U. S. Policy Toward Peron Hinges On His Attitude Toward Axis

WASHINGTON, June 5.—(INS)—United States policy toward the regime of newly inaugurated President Juan Peron in Argentina today was expected to hinge on his attitude toward alleged Axis agents still having haven in his country.

Peron's inauguration failed to evoke any United States reaction although it was observed ceremoniously at the embassy in Washington. Observers noted that, although it is customary to do so, neither President Truman nor Secretary of State James F. Byrnes sent congratulatory messages to the new chief executive.

Airborne Wins English Derby

EPSOM, Eng., June 5.—(INS)—Airborne, a 50-to-one shot, won the Derby at Epsom Downs today in the first running of that famous race since before the war.

Second place went to Gulfstream, Lord Derby's favorite, while Radio Therapy came in third.

Airborne had been considered a rank outsider in the field of 17 crack three-year-olds.

Atomic Energy Plant Assignment Brings Congress Criticism

WASHINGTON, June 5.—(INS)—Congressional criticism was evoked today by the war department's action in assigning the atomic energy plant at Hanford, Wash., to the General Electric Co.

Opinion prevailing among members of the senate's special committee on atomic energy was that the army should have postponed action aimed at utilizing atoms for peace-time uses.

Some members complained that the step was taken before legislation was completed to establish a five-man civilian commission with complete control over all phases of atomic energy. The army and navy would serve only in an advisory capacity.

The war department announced that the $347 million dollar Hanford plant would go under operation of General Electric about Sept. 1. The E. I. DuPont de Nemours and Co. operated the works for military purposes during the war.

New G.I. Order Bans Fraulein Public Kissing

NUERNBERG, June 5.—(INS)—An official order issued today by the First U. S. Infantry division made an army offense of any public "fraulein-kissing" in the Nuremberg area.

The order specifically instructs BIs to "refrain from arm-in-arm fraternization, kissing and petting on streets."

A division spokesman said the directive was issued in the interests of "dignity." He added:

"Conduct in the Nuremberg area has been generally excellent. The order was aimed at halting minority habits which were discrediting the army."

DENY AGREEMENT

PARIS, June 5.—(INS)—A spokesman for the American group at sessions of big four foreign ministers' deputies denied today that an agreement has been reached on the troublesome Trieste issue.

A broadcast from Switzerland yesterday stated that the Adriatic port city and its harbor area were being "internationalized" when the ministers meet in Paris June 13.

CHARGED WITH THEFT OF BUS

YELLOW & BROWN

We have many kinds of fruit which are valuable in our diet. Bananas seem to be the most popular year round fruit.

Although they may be cooked in many different ways they are usually eaten raw. They provide abundant nourishment and are rich in vitamins.

Their principal ingredient is starch which is changed to sugar when the fruit is ripe.

When the skin is a rich yellow with brown spots the banana is at its best. When eaten with cream or milk the combination is good for the banana does not provide much protein or fat.

We get what we ask for. There would have been no costly U.M.W. strike if Congress had passed a law to stop inexplicable accidents in the smaller mines.

Boston Red Sox Continue Winning Uphill Battles

Stage Big Rally Tuesday Beating St. Louis Browns

Red Sox Have Lost But Nine Games Since Season Began Back In Mid-April

DODGERS-PIRATES SPLIT DOUBLE BILL

NEW YORK, June 4.—(INS)— Winning, by this time is no particular novelty to a ball club that has lost only nine games since the start of the season away back in mid-April.

Nor was there anything unusual about the fact yesterday that the hotshot Red Sox came off a late-inning deficit with a six-run rally to beat the St. Louis Browns, 9-4. The 1946 Sox have made a specialty of coming from behind, with displays of run-congestion at the plate.

Yanks Also Win

The Yanks also won yesterday, 2-1, over the White Sox, again getting fine pitching from Spud Chandler. They aren't hitting, no. It was Chandler's eighth win of the year. Homers by Don Kolloway and Tommy Henrich furnished two of the scores.

Speaking of luck, the Dodgers had that whimsical lady putting the hex and the concentrated kibosh on the opposition in order to pull out an even break with the Pirates, and thus save themselves from losing 1½ games to the pursuing Cardinals.

Cards Finally Win

The latter pulled out of a three-game losing streak with a 5-1 decision at night over the Braves, through the medium of Harry Brecheen's four-hitter and Slaughter's home run with two on in the third.

The Cards, in consequence, picked up a half-game to trail 3½ today behind the leading Dodgers, who looked anything but convincing in the part while blowing the opener, 4-3, in Pittsburgh and barely saving the second, by 7-6, in 11 innings.

Feller Wins Eighth

Two red-hot pitchers chores were turned in by Bob Feller of Cleveland and the war hero, Ewell Blackwell of the Reds, in a pair of night games. Feller fanned 14 Senators in winning his eighth of the season under wraps, 10-2. Blackwell turned in his third straight with a 5-0 three-hitter against the Phillies.

The Giants, on the other hand, got 15 hits off Wyse and Meers and still lost to the Cubs, 3-2.

Another nocturnal pitching masterpiece was turned in by the Tigers' Dizzy Trout, who stopped the Athletics' 2-0, recovering after being knocked down by Peck's liner in the ninth and finishing the game.

Johnny Nolan, big Penn State football tackle, is hailed as a lacrosse all-American this season.

Question Is—

Who Gets Credit?

Another twist to the never dull complications of baseball occurred Monday night when New Wilmington blanked New Bedford in a North County league game, 5-0.

It so happened the pitchers, Eagleton and Sewall of the New Wilmington club teamed to hold the Bedfords' hitless. Eagleton pitched the first inning, with Sewall going the rest of the distance.

The problem that stumps Manager Howard Rodgers of the Wilmington club is—who gets credit for the victory? And does the pitcher get credit for a no-hitter game?

Curbstone coaches can mail their opinions to the Sports staff. The News, or to Manager Howard W. Rodgers, New Wilmington baseball club.

Seek Information On Food Commitments Of U. S. To Other Countries

WASHINGTON, June 5.—(INS)—The state department "passed the buck." Tuesday to the agriculture department on responsibility for American food commitments abroad.

James A. Stilwell, state department adviser on supplies for war areas, was asked at a recent small business committee hearing to outline the extent of U. S. food commitments overseas.

Stilwell replied that Secretary of Agriculture Anderson "absolutely makes commitments to foreign countries" and maintained that the responsibility rests with the agriculture department.

Stilwell appeared in place of Assistant Secretary of State Clayton as the committee, which is investigating famine relief, sought to learn the extent of all the food promises made by the United States.

Thomas J. McBreen economic adviser to the committee, expressed the opinion that the only way to pin responsibility for U. S. foreign food commitments, would be to have Anderson and Clayton appear simultaneously before the committee.

Meanwhile, the hearings were adjourned to 10 o'clock tomorrow morning by Chairman Murray (D) Mont.

Surgeon General To Speak
Plans were announced to near Army Surgeon General Norman T. Kirk tomorrow on army-sponsored nutritional surveys in the U. S. zone of occupied Germany.

Stilwell repeatedly referred questions to Anderson during today's session.

He testified that attaches of the agriculture department keep a constant check on food distribution in various famine areas, and when asked how many such checks there were in Poland replied that Secretary Anderson would know.

Sen. Wherry (R) Neb. inquired how it was determined that people in famine areas actually get the food shipped to them. Stilwell replied:

Artificial Voice Aids Former Pastor

Rev. T. David Rees, Former New Castle Man, Equipped With Artificial Larynx

Arthur J. Rees of East Washington street, was much pleased to hear his brother, Rev. T. David Rees, D. D. of Wooster, Ohio, converse with him in his "esophageal" voice, a day or two since.

It was in one of the parlors of the First Baptist church, at Canterbury, O., following the afternoon session of the Gymnana Genu (Welsh Hymn Singing Assembly).

Dr. Rees was operated on about nine months ago, by the renowned surgeon Dr. Tucker at the University of Pennsylvania Hospital in Philadelphia, when his larynx and "Adam's apple" were removed. Since that time an artificial larynx has been inserted in that region, and with determined and faithful practice, he has made splendid strides toward speaking with the improvised larynx.

Dr. Rees was in the Baptist ministry for about 32 years resigning the Wooster pastorate, following his operation. He now holds an executive position in one of the plants in the city. Before going to Wooster, he was pastor of the First Baptist church, Cambridge, Ohio, for thirteen years. He is very thankful to his friends for their kindness and the prayers to God on his behalf.

He is a graduate of Dennison University in Ohio, and Rochester Theological Seminary, N. Y. At Dennison he was a member of the Glee Club and their declaimer; at Rochester Seminary, he was a member of the seminary quartet and their declaimer.

Dr. Rees, Mrs. Rees and daughter Sylvia, who is a public school teacher, still reside in the church parsonage.

HENRY FORD II CLAIMS PROFITS IMPOSSIBLE NOW

DETROIT, June 5.—(INS)—Henry Ford II declared Tuesday that the Ford Motor company cannot make autos at a profit under present prices and labor productivity.

The young Ford president told newsmen that the company would lose money even with capacity production of 5,400 vehicles a day unless it received:

1. Greater individual worker productivity.
2. More equitable prices.
3. Sustained volume production.

Ford asserted that material prices have increased 30 per cent since 1941 while worker productivity has decreased approximately the same percentage. He noted a trend toward improvement in worker output, however.

He disclosed that the peak post-war production of 3,200 vehicles a day was reached shortly before the company shutdown early in May. Ford assembly lines, he said, will reopen June 24, with manufacturing operations resuming a week earlier despite strike in 42 separate supplier units.

BEATS DIMOUT WITH 'BOYPOWER'

CHICAGO—(INS)—Ingenuity has always paid off in the gasoline station business.

In Chicago, an ingenious filling station owner got around the dimout by using "boypower" to replace curtailed electric power. He hired a youngster short on size but long on stamina. The youth hitched his bicycle to the gas pump, and pedaled the sales up to 1,300 gallons in one day. Other station owners, less sharp, stayed within the 2 p. m. to 6 p. m. curtailment period, and watched sales drop as much as 60 per cent.

Ten Million To Visit Parks Of State In Year

imately 10,000,000 persons visited state parks annually," Kell said. "It is the consensus not only of this department but of other state agencies, that this year is going to be a banner year.

Foresee Huge Crowds

"We are unable to estimate the exact number of persons expected to visit state parks during 1946 but we feel sure that it will pass the ten million mark," he added.

Kell pointed out that the department acquired last year an additional 32,862 acres of land in four areas which had been national parks.

The parks, which had been controlled by the U. S. Department of Interior, were Hickory Run in Carbon county; Raccoon Creek, Beaver county; Blue Knob, Bedford county; and Laurel Hill, Somerset county.

Kell said department has been deluged with requests from Pennsylvanians and out-of-state residents seeking information about Pennsylvania's parks, fishing streams and hunting lands.

Experiment flights prove that highly perishable commodities such as sea food, fruits and vegetables may be flown by air express to active markets, thus supply one-day old foods to every section of the United States with a negligible percentage of loss, according to the Railway Express Agency.

When lobbyists representing Big Business wish to cripple or kill any government agency, the first person to persuade a few Congressmen to "investigate" it and take biased testimony.
